

Aldous Huxley

After silence, that which comes nearest to expressing the inexpressible is music.